

Very Virtual Valley Welcomes Host Auctioneer, Marissa Walters

Marissa Walters of Wild Hair Auctions and Events is a benefit auctioneer with a passion for raising money for non-profits and schools. She has worked closely with successful Denver based auctioneers over the past three years to hone her chant and her fundraising presence and helped raise over half million dollars for numerous organizations. Marissa's background in restaurant management and event planning give her the knowledge to help create an efficient and successful event. She is a mom of two who is learning to love all things outdoors in order to keep up with her kids. When she is not working on her own event you will find her at numerous live auctions coming up with the next great idea to support her non-profit organizations.